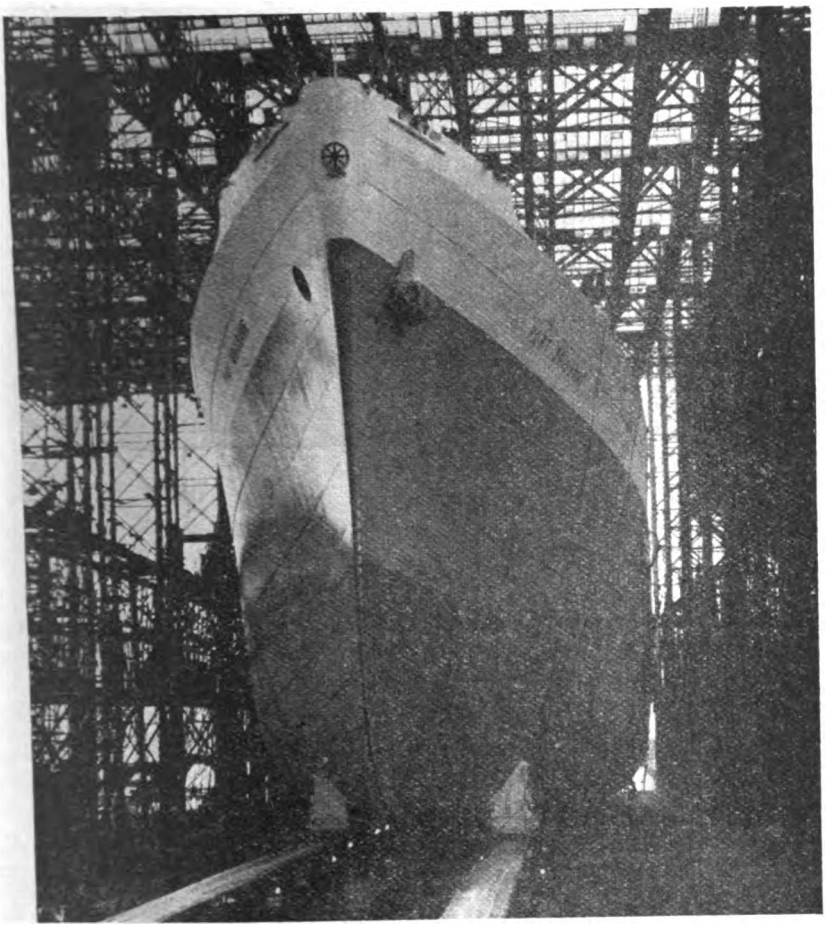
Fire Down Below

A few months ago fire broke out in the holds of a modern liner—fiercely enough to buckle the surrounding steel framework and to burn iron piping clean away. It was quite a fire.

When everything was under control again, some interesting discoveries were made. The nearby holds were chilling rooms for cold storage, insulated with 'Fibreglass' batwool. And they were intact—quite undamaged—even the paint inside had not blistered. 'Fibreglass' not only saved those holds—by localising the fire it probably saved the ship.



'Fibreglass' is an insulating material, not a substitute for the fire brigade. But its indifference to intense heat is not the least of its attractions to shipowners, and others.

Oil Economy is Still Vital

Lubricating oil is imported and its conservation leaves more of the proceeds of our exports to pay for food and vital raw materials. Lubricating oil can be renewed by the Stream-Line Filter—used over and over again—providing better lubrication at a fraction of the former cost.

THE MERCANTILE NAVY LIST

This edition of the Mercantile Navy List contains particulars of all vessels reported as registered in the United Kingdom, British Oversea Dominions and Protectorates at 31st December, 1948.

The List is divided into three Parts :—(1) Steam ; (2) Motor, and (3) Sailing and other Vessels. Vessels which are fitted with auxiliary motors are included in both Part (2) and Part (3), their names being printed in italic type. Vessels without means of propulsion (i.e., dumb barges, etc.) are included in Part (3).

The " description " of each vessel is shown after the name, e.g., " C " (Cargo) ; " T " (Tanker) ; " W.F." (Whaling Factory). A full list of abbreviations will be found on page 1.

Where the name of a vessel has been changed, the former name is shown in italic type after the present name.

The international code signals for visual signalling purposes are shown in the List ; they comprise—

I. For Ships Registered at Ports in Great Britain and Northern Ireland, the signals of all ships for which signal letters have been registered.

II. For British Ships Registered Outside Great Britain and Northern Ireland, the signals of all ships of which the signal letters have been reported to the Registrar-General of Shipping and Seamen by the authorities concerned.

For ships fitted with wireless the signal letters shown are the same as the ships' radio call signs.

The name and address of the Owner, or Part Owner, are printed in ordinary type.

A cross against the name of any person signifies that he is registered as " Managing Owner " under Section 59 of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894.

The name and address of any person printed in italic type signifies that such person, though not the owner of shares, has, under Section 59 of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894, been registered in the United Kingdom as the person (" Manager " or " Ship's Husband ") to whom the management of the ship has been entrusted.

The International Code of Signals

This Code is the universal means of communication between the Ships and Signal Stations of all nations. In accordance with the decision of the International Code of Signals Committee of the Washington Radiotelegraph Conference, endorsed by the International Radiotelegraph Conference of Madrid, 1932, it has been entirely revised and the new Code came into force on the 1st January, 1934. It was decided that there should be seven editorial editions of the Code, namely: In English, French, German, Italian, Japanese, Norwegian and Spanish languages. It consists of two volumes, one for use by Radiotelegraphy, the other by Visual Signalling.

The International Code is the only Code now used at the Signal Stations on our coasts, and at the Signal and Semaphore Stations of other countries, and the officers at these Stations have no means of understanding or signalling by any other Code.

It is therefore important that ships should be provided with the means of signalling by this Code, as cases have been reported in which officers at the Signal Station have hoisted the International Code Signals warning ships of danger and the ships have been afterwards lost from the inability of the Masters to read the signals.

Ships should be provided with the latest edition of the International Code of Signals, together with supplements showing all the corrections made from time to time. The Code Volume I and II price 15s. each, by post 15s. 6d., and Supplements can be obtained directly from H.M. Stationery Office at the addresses given on the reverse of the title page, or through any bookseller.

"Signal Letters of British Ships"

This book is prepared for the purpose of enabling officers at Signal Stations on shore and Masters of ships at sea to signal and report passing ships. It includes, in the case of ships registered at ports in Great Britain and Northern Ireland, all ships fitted with wireless whose radio call signs have been registered as signal letters, and all ships not fitted with wireless for which signal letters have been registered; and it includes, in the case of British ships registered outside Great Britain and Northern Ireland, all ships the signal letters of which have been reported to the Registrar-General of Shipping and Seamen by the authorities concerned. It also contains the names and distinguishing signal letters of certain unregistered British ships to which signal letters have been allotted In the case of ships fitted with wireless, the signal letters shown in this volume are the same as the letters composing the ships' radio call signs.

Digitized by Google

" Signal Letters of British Ships " is published annually (price 4s. by post 4s. 3d.), and monthly supplements (price 6d. by post 7d.) are also issued. Copies can be obtained from the Stationery Office at the addresses given on the reverse of the title page.

In accordance with the International Code of Signals, the first letter or the first and second letters of a visual signal group always indicate the nationality of the ship and the following table shows the allocation of initial letters so far as British ships are concerned :—

Signal Letters.	Country.
AP—AS	Pakistan.
CF—CK, CY—CZ	Canada.
G, M	Great Britain and Northern Ireland.
VA—VG	Canada.
VH—VN	Commonwealth of Australia.
VO	Newfoundland.
VP—VS	British Colonies and Protectorates.
VT—VW	India.
VX—VY	Canada.
VZ	Commonwealth of Australia.
ZB—ZJ	British Colonies and Protectorates.
ZK—ZM	New Zealand.
ZN—ZO, ZQ	British Colonies and Protectorates.
ZR—ZU	Union of South Africa.

Method of Obtaining Signal Letters.

In the case of ships registered in Great Britain and Northern Ireland, application for the allotment of signal letters should be made to the Registrar-General of Shipping and Seamen, Llantrisant Road, Llandaff, Cardiff, on forms which can be obtained from any Registrar of Shipping in Great Britain or Northern Ireland. In the case of ships registered outside Great Britain and Northern Ireland, application should be made to the Registrar of Shipping at the port of registry.

Whenever possible the ship's Certificate of Registry should accompany the application for signal letters, in order that the letters, when allocated, may be marked on the Certificate.

Commercial Maritime Signalling

The Corporation of Lloyd's has the control and working of Signal Stations in Great Britain and in many places abroad. Various foreign Governments recognise the advantage of reports from Signal Stations being collected and forwarded on identical conditions and have arranged that reports from and to their Stations can be obtained and forwarded through Lloyd's. Thus one universal system of receiving and transmitting maritime reports extends over a wide area.

Shipowners and others can obtain telegraphic or postal advices with regard to any vessel in which they may be interested, or transmit orders to such vessels, by communicating with the Intelligence Dept., Lloyd's, London, E.C.3.

Digitized by Google

Most of the Coast Wireless Stations in Great Britain and Northern Ireland belonging to the General Post Office notify Lloyd's of the positions and movements of ships and other maritime intelligence.

Gale Warning Service

The Gale Warning Service is the responsibility of the Ministry of Transport and is administered by the Gale Warning Board.

The Gale Warning Board consists of members nominated by the Admiralty, Air Ministry, Ministry of Transport, Ministry of Agriculture and Fisheries and the Scottish Home Department (Fisheries Division), and representatives of Trinity House and the Northern Lighthouse Board are co-opted as necessary. Its functions are to make recommendations to the competent authorities on the following subjects:—

(a) the number and location of gale warning stations;
(b) the organisation of the distribution of gale warning messages;
(c) the method of displaying the warnings.

Notices of threatening atmospheric disturbances on or near the Coasts of the British Isles are issued by the Meteorological Office to Gale Warning Stations. The fact that one of these notices has been received is made known by hoisting a black canvas cone, 3 feet high and 3 feet wide at base, which has the appearance of a triangle when hoisted. At St. Anthony, Southend-on-Sea and Brighton, three white lights in the form of a triangle are exhibited by night in place of the cone.

The hoisting of a gale warning signal indicates that a gale is expected within a distance of 50 or 100 miles of the place where the signal is hoisted.

Normally a *gale may be expected to develop within 10 hours of the time of hoisting the signal, but occasionally it develops more slowly and the period of development may be 20 or even 30 hours.

* In connection with the Gale Warning Service the term "Gale" is used for winds of force 8 and above on the Beaufort Scale.

Digitized by Google

The gale warning signal is lowered when the gale has passed and it is anticipated that there will be a period of not less than 12 hours free from gales and high winds. Gales sometimes follow one another in quick succession, consequently the gale warning signal is left flying during a temporary abatement of the wind if a renewal of the gale is expected.

Warning Signals

The gale warning signals are :—

The North Cone.—When the gale warning signal takes the form of the North Cone (i.e., the cone hoisted with the point upwards) it may be expected that the gale will commence from a northerly point.

In the case of gales commencing from the east or west the North Cone is also hoisted if the gale is expected to change to a Northerly direction.

The South Cone.—When the gale warning signal takes the form of the South Cone (i.e., the cone hoisted with the point downwards) gales from a southerly point may be expected : such gales often veer, sometimes as far as north-west.

In the case of gales commencing from the east or west the South Cone is also hoisted if the gale is expected to change to a Southerly direction.

(c) The Ministry of Transport *Book of Merchant Shipping Notices may be obtained, gratis, at Mercantile Marine Offices and Customs Houses in Great Britain and Northern Ireland. Copies may also be inspected at all important Dominion and Colonial Government Shipping Offices and British Consulates.

NAVIGATIONAL WARNINGS.—In additon to the above, Navigational Warnings of an urgent nature are broadcast by W/T and R/T from certain coast wireless stations in Great Britain and Ireland as well as by the British Broadcasting Corporation. A list of the Wireless Stations from which, and the times at which, the Warnings are broadcast is published in the Ministry of Transport Book of Merchant Shipping Notices.

Masters are recommended to arrange wherever possible for the W/T operator or an officer to listen in at the scheduled time prior to sailing for any warnings affecting their routes.

NOTICES TO SHIP WIRELESS STATIONS.—Notices to Ship Wireless Stations are issued to Masters, who are responsible for the supply of these notices to the ship's wireless station. These notices are issued when required, not necessarily at regular intervals. They can be obtained free of charge from any Mercantile Marine Office or Custom House, where they are retained for six months, after which application for missing or back numbers should be made to The Telecommunications Department (Wireless Telegraphy Section), General Post Office, Headquarters Building, London, E.C.1.

A complete file of current Notices should be kept in the Wireless Office, and Masters should procure copies of any missing numbers.
